President's Report

Hi Everyone,

Well 2014 is upon us already. I would like to start by thanking those previous office bearers for the great job they did in 2013. Steve, Bernie, Ian, Kim & Dave and anyone else I may have forgotten. And I would like welcome Jenny to the committee. This year we have a lot planned again. Our show will be on the 19th of October and planning is already underway with an add on Pinky's.

Patrick tells us he has a few different locations for club runs and Fish & Chip nights, so if you have an idea talk to him soon.

We will also get a Bunnings sausage sizzle happening again. We also hope to have a Car display on a regular basis at one of the local Auto outlets. We'll keep you informed.

Another idea that has been passed around is a repaint of the club house, same colours just a wash and repaint. I believe we could knock this over in one weekend if planned it well. Let me know what you think.

Don't forget the Pizza night for our next Fish n' Chip run, Yandina. Meet at clubhouse at 6pm 15/3/14.

Looking forward to catching up with you all soon.

Take care, drive safe.

Jeff.

"The whole family's happy!"

NOW I'VE GOT THIS RELIANT FROM GLANFIELD'S"

"Yes, I've gone over to three wheels, but the wife and kids wanted a spot of weather protection so I had a word with Glanfield's and they suggested a Reliant. Wonderfully economical and all four of us are under cover when it starts to rain and that's been pretty often of late! It's a nippy little bus and I got rather more than I expected for my old motorbike in part exchange, so I'm feeling quite pleased with life. Mind you, G. L. H.P. terms helped a lot—we're enjoying first-class family motoring without financial strain."

ROB'S BITS

THE DELLTONES VISIT GYMPIE

These musicians really put a lot of energy into their show. They visited Gympie in early July, Clarice rang 4GY and won 2 free passes a saving of $90 a bit of class. The Delltones started back in the 50's and one of the singers PEE WEE NEILSON is still part of it. We reckon he would have to be over seventy by now. Their crew consisted of four men as singers and players of instruments, two females, one selling tickets the other on the door as usherette. Also two more men controlling the lights, sound and other tasks. One drummer has been with them for thirty years. During the first half of the show the singers were dressed in black trousers and white shirts which would have been the style in the 50's. Some good old songs including "Surfing U.S.A", "Under the board walk", "Polka dot bikini", "Hanging five out on the Malibu". Second half of the night was more up beat, man made smoke flowing, very strong lights in your face worse than meeting a car at night on high beam. Their dress more fancy. A question I ask the fellow on the lights does he manually switch them on and off or are they computer controlled. Rock & Roll tunes were a feature of the second half. Some nights in July are very wet and very cold; however this one was neither. Playing at Country Halls in the sixties around Gympie was a Dance Band called The Belltones.

Holden

Coupe Utility

The recent announcement of a utility truck based on Australia's first quantity produced car, the Holden, was greeted with great acclaim by Australians generally. Engine, transmission and suspension units are identical to those of the car, as are also the front end body-chassis units and panels. Beyond the roomy coupe cabin a new design of box section chassis has been employed to give a spacious deep-well utility back, at the same time retaining the virtues of low weight and extreme torsional rigidity associated with the Holden car.

The roomy coupe cab is fashioned to the latest ideas of line and appointments. A full width curved rear window gives the best possible vision, while the wide doors provide plenty of window space for side vision and ventilation, and open wide for comfortable exit and entry.

LEMON OF THE MONTH

94 Mazda Roadpacer AP

The Bloatary

It seems almost inconceivable today that a Japanese car maker planning a new range-topping luxury car would turn to the Australian arm of General Motors for the body. But Mazda did exactly that in 1975, putting its logo loudly and proudly on a rebadged Holden Premier.

The Roadpacer was announced on 1 April – a date that may or may not have any special symbolism in the Land of the Rising Sun – and although the exterior was familiar, the car had been completely re-engineered to take a Mazda 13B Wankel rotary engine.

The Roadpacer was intended only for the Japanese market and every gadget and gizmo in Mazda's armoury was brought to battle. The Roadpacer had central locking, power steering, dual-zone air-conditioning and a car refrigerator. Although top speed was claimed to be 95 mph (152 km/h), at 55 mph (88.5 km/h) a loud musical tone sounded. This was presumably to remind Japanese drivers that they had an additional 40 mph (64 km/h) up their sleeve. Other Mazda changes included softening the suspension to the point that the chassis bottomed out regularly on anything approaching a rough road.

Why a heavy and space-inefficient Holden body was chosen for a lightweight and compact engine is hard to say. The net result was a car that was far more expensive to produce, yet no quicker than the pushrod six-cylinder Holden it was based on. Furthermore, Japan was still suffering severely from the energy shock, and the Wankel engine drank like a salaryman at the end of a long week. The Roadpacer was also too broad for many Japanese streets, and it was hit with the special 'wide-car tax'. This was one of those curious and mysteriously changing levies the Japanese government used to ensure that the country's 'open market' would remain almost completely free of imports.

The Wankel was the engine that helped send Mazda bankrupt and the unloved Roadpacer was killed off a few months before Ford bailed out the company by purchasing 25 per cent of its shares. If not for the success of the 1979 RX-7, Mazda's rotary-engine programme would almost certainly have died as well.

1964 Morris Mini 850

Owned by Erin Cadogan

I'm a university student who has dreamed of owning a Mini from a young age, and on my 21st birthday that dream came true. I'm now the proud owner of a 1964 Morris 850! I love the old-car features such as the high beam switch on the floor, and the manual windscreen washer pump. It even came with the original driver's handbook and service log book, and only 65,000 miles on the clock.

Driving it took a bit of getting used to (the all-round drum brakes didn't help) but I loved it from the start, and parking is a breeze. I aim to build a collection of Minis throughout my lifetime.

Married Bliss

A middle-aged man was travelling on The Indian Pacific Express. Sleeping in an upper berth he was awoken by a persistent tapping from the berth below.

"I'm terribly cold down here. I wonder if you'd mind getting me a blanket?", asked an attractive female voice from below.

"I've got a better idea...", he sleepily answered, "...let's pretend we're married".

"That's a lovely idea", she giggled.

"Good", he said, rolling over...

"...Get your own bloody blanket".
