NASH METROPOLITANS TO BE SOLD HERE

LONDON. — The Nash Metropolitan, built by Austin to Nash specifications exclusively for export to the U.S., is to be made available to Australia.

Austin have built 30,000 of the cars, fitted with the A-50 engine.

There are only two body styles, both two-seater—a closed coupe and a soft-top coupe.

The A-50 engine is slightly more powerful than that in production Austins, and the engine compartment is very adaptable to engine changes.

American enthusiasts have given the car outstanding performances by substituting Ford and Chevrolet 6-cylinder engines for the original equipment.

The car would be very adaptable to the Holden engine.

THE SALOON version of the Nash Metropolitan. Austin have made 30,000 of these for Nash. Austin have no hand in merchandising the cars; they are merely manufacturers making them under contract.
